CAYCE, SC – The City of Cayce is now one of the 29 South Carolina cities and towns taking steps to simplify the process for businesses to locate in the City.

Cayce officials worked with the Municipal Association of South Carolina, the South Carolina Business Licensing Officials Association, the South Carolina Chamber of Commerce, local chambers of commerce, and other organizations to create a standardized business license application. These new applications will aid transient businesses – contractors, landscapers, caterers, etc. – that operate in multiple government jurisdictions.

“By implementing a standardized business licensing process, we hope to ease the process for people looking to do business in Cayce,” stated Mayor Elise Partin. “We will always be the kind of City that looks to take proactive measures to make Cayce a great place to do business. These new applications make it easier for businesses to get the approval they need here in Cayce and elsewhere in our state.”

Any business can use the new two-page, simple application. The City will continue to accept existing license applications. The standardized application can be downloaded on the City of Cayce's website.
